

McDonald's®

CELEBRATES

BLACK HISTORY

MOMENTS

on

Canvas

Enter for a chance to win!

Dec. 15 Contest Launch

Feb. 28, 2015 Submission Deadline

May 1, 2015 Winner Announcement

McDonald's Celebrates Black History Moments on Canvas is an exciting art contest that honors the contributions of people of African descent to American and world history. Celebrate Black History Month with metro Detroit McDonald's restaurant owners who are giving away more than $5,000 in cash prizes and a gallery exhibit featuring the best art about black history. No purchase necessary to enter or win a prize. Void where prohibited by law.

High school students, you can enter for a chance to win with a work of art that you create. Entry is open to Michigan students 13 to 19 years old who are a resident of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Lapeer, Livingston, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties and who currently are enrolled at and attending home school or a public, private or charter high school.

Submit a photo of your historically accurate artwork depicting a significant figure, moment or event in black history with a completed entry form online or by mail for a chance to win! Fifty semifinalists advance to the final round. Twelve finalists will be selected for first-, second-, third-place prizes and nine fourth place winners along with six honorable mentions.

The contest starts Dec. 15, 2014 and ends Feb. 28, 2015. Winners will be announced during a special event to unveil the artwork in an exhibit at the N'Namdi Center for Contemporary Art in Detroit. You could be part of a gallery exhibit and win money!

For more details and to enter today,
go to www.BlackMomentsOnCanvas.com